Meyer Najem Construction Wins 2007 Pillar Award for Business of the Year

(Fishers, IN) October 16, 2007 – The Fishers Chamber of Commerce has awarded Meyer Najem Construction the 2007 Pillar Award for Business of the Year.

On Saturday, October 13 the Fishers Chamber of Commerce presented the 6th Annual Pillar Awards & Gala celebrating business excellence at the Mansion at Oak Hill. The evening black-tie event honored the outstanding businesses in the Fishers community. The four awards presented were: Business of the Year, Small Business of the Year; Emerging Growth and Design Appeal.

Each business that entered into the competition submitted criteria significant to its specific award category, including an application narrative providing the company's background, business growth and photographs if applicable. The Business of the Year category included prerequisites of having a business with more than 25 employees, exhibit community spirit, and provide a positive economic impact. Nominees were Community Home Health Services and Meyer Najem Construction.

This years judges were:

Cynthia Hauth, president of Indianapolis Woodworking and chairwoman of the board of the Fishers Chamber of Commerce.

Scott Faultless, attorney and president of the Fishers Town Council.

John Ketzenberger, columnist for The Indianapolis Star and panelist on Indiana Week in Review. State Rep. Kathy Kreag Richardson, R-Noblesville.

Mark Miles, president and CEO of the Central Indiana Corporate Partnership.

BUILDING VALUE. BUILDING SOLUTIONS. BUILDING RELATIONSHIPS.
