Meyer Najem Construction Breaks Ground at the New $22 Million OrthoIndy/Indiana Orthopaedic Hospital Project

(Fishers, IN) September 22, 2009 – Meyer Najem Construction, OrthoIndy, and the Orthopaedic Hospital officially broke ground on the new $22 million Hospital Outpatient Department and Clinic. Scheduled for completion in 2010, the new state-of-the-art facility is located on 42 acres near I-65 and County Line Road on the Southside of Indianapolis.

The breakdown for the 75,000 square-foot facility is comprised of a 35,000 square-foot ground-up hospital and 40,000 square feet for clinical services. The hospital will feature four operating rooms, two procedure rooms, six PACU Bays, 15 Pre-op/Stage 2/APS Bays, Outpatient Therapy, and an MRI room. In addition, the clinic will provide 42 exam rooms, two casting rooms, 15 physician offices, and three X-ray rooms.

“Meyer Najem is excited to have been selected as the Construction Manager for the OrthoIndy/IOH project,” said Tim Russell, President at Meyer Najem. We are honored to be a part of the growing presence of OrthoIndy as they expand to meet the increasing demand for the orthopaedic services in the greater Greenwood area.
